Thoughts from the President Karla Knapp, Iowa

"It takes a Village" That has been my motto from the start of my Presidency, almost 6 months ago now. I am very grateful and thankful for my Auxiliary Village that volunteer to make our Angus Auxiliary run so smoothly. All of the hard work that goes on behind the scenes is nothing short of incredible. We have an amazing set of committee chairs that go above and beyond to make things happen successfully. The Executive team spent 3 extra days in Sugar Creek, Ohio this spring bonding and strategizing new ways to make our Auxiliary a place that everyone can be involved in. We hope that this excitement keeps growing and that we can continue to enlarge our Village!

Spring has been pretty busy for the American Angus Auxiliary. We just celebrated our 7th Women Connected Conference held at the amazing Certified Angus Beef Culinary Center. On March 25-27th 33 ladies from 14 states had a great time learning about Certified Angus Beef and the Angus Industry all while networking and making meaningful connections with other cattlemen. We are all grateful and thankful to the Angus Foundation for their support in making this wonderful event possible.

Our Beef Education Committee is busy preparing for our 41st annual Certified Angus Beef Cook-Off to be held Tuesday, July 2nd in Madison, WI. Be sure to come out at 1:00 that afternoon to see all of the talented junior chefs put on their skits and to promote some delicious Certified Angus Beef.

While you are in Madison, don't forget to check out the fun scavenger hunt that we have planned for you! Keep an eye out on our Facebook page for a list of all the items on the hunt! We will be asking you to take a photo on your phones of the items and document your progress for some amazing prizes to be given away at our social on Wednesday, July 3rd at 3:15 that afternoon. Be sure to stick around for our Mid-year meeting that starts at 4:15 that day also. We will have our legendary brown bag raffle and some great snacks too!! Our Executive team is excited to get to know you better, so bring a friend!

From your Regional Directors

Officers

Greetings from Region 1! | Region 1 | Cindy Worthington, California

For those of you who don't know me my name is Cindy Worthington and I am finishing up my second term as a Regional Director. This spring has been a busy one for Angus breeders in the west. Cattle prices are up and the Angus sales have been very strong.

This year the 50th Anniversary of the Western National Angus Futurity was held in Reno Nevada, April 10th-13th. The event definitely exceeded expectations! Sponsorships were up & entries were up in both shows. The new Junior Sweepstakes consisting of Showmanship a Fitting contest & judging contest was a huge hit!

Huge shout out to all the Region 1 states who helped make this one memorable for all. The WSA Auxiliary organized and judged the photos from this years new photo contest. They also crowned Claire Murnin of Huntley Mt as the 2024-2025 Western States Queen and Region 1 is proud to have such an excellent young lady represent us.

I am looking forward to the NJAS in Madison, Wisconsin this summer. There are several juniors from Region 1 running for NJAA Green Jacket positions. Grant Solem from California and Grace Tekansk from Nevada. Make sure and come out and see the Auxiliary at the tail gate event and plan on attending the social and mid-year meetings!

I can not express what a privilege it has been to serve in this role. The experiences I have had and the opportunities & the learning experiences the Auxiliary has afforded me with some absolutely amazing women is impossible to express! If you have ever wanted to get more involved in the Auxiliary I would encourage you to run for this position in the fall of 2024. Have a fantastic summer and safe travels to those of you traveling to Madison!

Spring Greetings from Region 3! | Region 3 | Stacy Erdmann, North Dakota

I am going to spend my time reflecting on my first term as your Region 3 Director. First, I must admit I was more than a little nervous stepping into this role! I have learned a lot about what this organization does for the benefit of our Angus Breed and our youth. I'm learning that I am a passionate supporter of our youth and the opportunities that we, as American Angus Auxiliary members; get to provide for others is what I am most proud of. I've also learned that we are a resilient group when faced with challenges, which isn't easy especially when we are a group of women that come from different backgrounds, education, faith, family up-bringing and simply at different points in our lives. With these things it has given me a strong sense of the determination and drive that every woman I get to work with in this organization has, and that is what I admire. It has helped me realize that there are others out there passionate about the future of our industry, also it has helped me understand that I don't have all the answers like I think I do which is awfully humbling, and asking for help is necessary and that is ok! This time as Region 3 Director has been a humbling experience and it has made me very grateful for the connections I have been able to make. Thank you all for this opportunity and encouraging me! A quick shout-out to Anne Lampe and her team for hosting another great Women's Connected Conference in Wooster at Certified Angus Beef! This conference brought me to the Auxiliary back in 2014 and helped reignite our small State Auxiliary in North Dakota! Forging ahead I am looking forward to our July meeting together in Madison Wisconsin! One of the highlights of our summer, the NJAS! Plus, our family is looking forward to getting the chance to go back to Samba Brazilian Grill, there's a fun memory from the last time we ate there!

Aloha from Region 5! | Region 5 | Lori Pillars, Michigan

The sun has been shining here in Michigan for the past four days which makes me feel very fortunate that I remember what it looks like. Lake Michigan is beautiful, but on our side of the colossal lake gray skies are the norm for winter and much of spring. Speaking of spring, there has been a great deal going on within our region. The ladies of Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana Michigan, Ohio, and Kentucky have been busy with sales, beef expos and spring meetings. First, I would like to say congratulations to all the ladies that have been re-elected or newly elected as a board member of your state's auxiliary. I wish you all the very best and hope that you enjoy your time serving your membership. If you need anything, please feel free to reach out to me. I will be happy to help in any way that I can.

During the month of March, the Women's Connect Conference took place at the Certified Angus Beef Culinary Center in Wooster, OH. This was my first trip to CAB, and I must say they sure know how to make people feel welcomed and put on a feast for the Queens. I learned a great deal about a variety of cuts of meat along with what goes into making the CAB brand so successful. I strongly encourage you to reach out to Alli Hall of OH, Carla Dawson, Cassie Royer and Kathy Wilson of IN or myself to learn more about our exceptional experience during our time in Wooster. Two years from now I encourage women from across our country whether you have a registered herd or a commercial herd of Angus to apply for the conference. It is fun meeting so many interesting ladies across this great land who have a passion for Angus.

The main event of the summer will be held in Madison, WI June 29 – July 6, 2024. The membership of Wisconsin's Angus Association is so graciously hosting the National Junior Angus Show. During that action-packed week I would like to invite you to our mid-year meeting held on Wednesday afternoon. For now Aloha from Region 5!

2024 Miss American Angus - Lauren Wolter.

8 trips, 19 flights, and 5,960 miles traveled, yet we are only halfway through! While the miles traveled surely seems to be racking up, that number is hardly representative of the number of unforgettable moments had both in and out of the ring. I invite you to take a little walk down memory lane with me:

My first show was in Louisville, KY for the North American International Livestock Exposition. I had some wonderful help from Miss Iowa and Indiana who helped me get through my first ever time serving in a royalty position. It was certainly a memorable start to my duties when Regional Manager Casey Jentz proceeded to hide my sash from me when I changed to show my heifer!

At the end of the semester I headed to Wooster, OH for the opportunity to learn more about Certified Angus Beef alongside some members of the Canadian and American junior boards, as well as other college students. Visiting headquarters has been on my bucket list for quite some time and the facilities were even better than I imagined! It was a chance to combine all my favorite things: good people, good food, and meat science.

Next up, was the majors sprint between Cattlemen's Congress in Oklahoma City and the National Western Stock Show in Denver. While both shows were quite cold, the princesses I got to work with and people I interacted with during the sales and socials really warmed my heart.

Then it was onto Harrisonburg, VA for my first time at the MAJAC. Everyone there was so welcoming, and I really enjoyed meeting more of the East Coast juniors. If you are ever in Harrisonburg, go visit Grilled Cheese Mania because it was delicious!

Westbound again, I traveled back to Denver for the Raising the Bar conference where we visited 5 Rivers Cattle Feeding, Parry Angus, Greely Hat Works, Colorado State University, and even enjoyed some snow tubing in the mountains!

The Western Regional Angus Futurity was another new show for me, but one I greatly enjoyed. I was honored to assist with interviewing the newly crowned Western States Queen, and thoroughly enjoyed my conversations in the ring with Miss Oregon, Miss Montana, and the retiring Western States Queen. After the conclusion of the show, my mother and I snuck up to Lake Tahoe and enjoyed a wonderful dinner on the waterfront before a snowy drive back down the mountain. The lake's beauty is truly indescribable.

Most recently, I headed to Deer Valley Farms in Tennessee for a CAB Ranch Day with retailers and meat managers from Food City. I was able to talk about my role as Miss American Angus and shed light on the importance of CAB to Angus producers, as well as some of my meat science research work at Kansas State University. We certainly did not go hungry when Jonathan and Jackie Perry provided lunch straight from The Hickory House! It was a very neat experience to truly make the connection from pasture to plate.

On the night of my crowning, I was in disbelief that I was the lucky girl who would have the opportunity to wear the red jacket in 2024. I recall saying to my mother, "I just can't believe I get to do this!" and I am happy to report that feeling of shock and pure joy has not faded. Each time I slip on my red coat, don my sash, and fix my crown, a uniquely humbling wave of pride washes over me. American Angus Auxiliary, we still have a big year ahead, but it has been an absolute pleasure serving as your queen.

Angus Auxiliary Hosts 7th Biennial Women Connected Conference

Angus women gather from across the country to network and learn more about Certified Angus Beef®.

Raising livestock is a way of life few are privileged to experience, and busy schedules and on-farm responsibilities can make it difficult for farmers and ranchers to prioritize networking and educational opportunities. On March 25-27, 33 cattlemen from 14 states gathered to connect and learn from one another at the Certified Angus Beef Culinary Center in Wooster, Ohio, for the seventh iteration of the Women Connected Conference.

"When I applied for Women Connected, I knew it would be a group of women passionate about the Angus breed, but I wasn't sure what to expect," said Bree Hawkins, a Women Connected attendee who is just beginning her journey with the Business Breed. "After the conference I realized I had not only connected with an amazing group of women who welcomed me without question, but that I also understood more about Certified Angus Beef, the brand and the breed as a whole."

Hosted by the American Angus Auxiliary and underwritten by the Angus Foundation, the conference was started in 2012 with the purpose of bringing women involved in the Angus breed together to engage in learning about the industry and to network with other cattlemen.

"The unrestricted Angus Fund helps make educational programs such as Women Connected possible for those who share a passion for Angus cattle," said Jaclyn Boester, executive director of the Angus Foundation. "The Foundation is proud to support this great educational and networking program for the Angus Auxiliary."

Staff and attendees kicked off the week at the Culinary Center with a welcome reception, hearing from Women Connected chairman Anne Lampe, American Angus Auxiliary president Karla Knapp and president of Certified Angus Beef John Stika. The conference program also featured an overview of the American Angus Association, the Angus Foundation and the Certified Angus Beef® brand, including the brand's programs and marketing efforts.

Moving over to the meat lab at the Culinary Center, Diana Clark, assistant director of research and education for the brand, showed attendees the science behind the sizzle. She instructed teams in hands-on training on how to break down top sirloins that would be served the following day for lunch. Clark also presented to the group, by way of a steak tasting, about the differences between USDA quality grades, Certified Angus Beef® product and Certified Angus Beef® Prime.

Throughout the event, the Culinary Center's executive chef, Venoy Rogers III, and his team featured various dishes designed to either utilize cuts of beef in unique ways or to stretch products to feed larger groups of people. Rogers also oversaw a beef cook off for conference participants. Attendees chose from various cooking methods and ingredients to create their own Certified Angus Beef® coulotte and sirloin-centered meal.

Women Connected also sampled other local wine and fare with a tasting at Troutman Winery followed by dinner at City Square Steakhouse, a Certified Angus Beef® licensee in downtown Wooster.

On the final morning of the event, discussions surrounding sustainability and protecting the brand led to roundtable brainstorming sessions, centered on what conference attendees took away from their time at Certified Angus Beef.

"This program is an opportunity to bring together women from across the United States who come from different backgrounds and demographics, but all share the common bond of Angus cattle," said Lampe, noting that the event is open to any woman within the Angus breed. "The number of qualified candidates grows each year, and we encourage any women who are interested to consider applying in 2026."

Ladies are selected, based on a written application, to attend the conference, which is held on even-numbered years in either St. Joseph, Missouri at the American Angus Association® headquarters or in Wooster at Certified Angus Beef.

Certified Angus Beef® Cook-Off Contest entries due May 25

American Angus Auxiliary contest displays junior members' kitchen skills.

Entries are open for the American Angus Auxiliary-sponsored 41st All-American Certified Angus Beef® Cook-Off Contest. All interested contestants must enter by May 25. The contest will be held July 2 at the 2024 National Junior Angus Show (NJAS) in Madison, Wis.

The Cook-Off Contest provides an opportunity for National Junior Angus Association (NJAA) members to display their knowledge of the beef industry and skills in the kitchen while enjoying friendly competition with fellow participants. All contestants must be members of the NJAA and each team must consist of two to six members of a state junior Angus association.

"We are excited to host and celebrate the 41st All-American Certified Angus Beef® Cook-Off Contest, which serves as the oldest NJAS educational contest," said Anne Lampe, American Angus Auxiliary beef education committee co-chair. "I am always amazed at the creative ways NJAA members put recipes, presentations and skits together to educate consumers about Certified Angus Beef®."

This annual contest encourages NJAA members from each state to gather their best recipes, prepare a Certified Angus Beef® beef dish and perform a skit to entertain and educate the audience. The cuts selected for this year's contest are as follows: the steak division is Baseball Steak (Sirloin), the roast division is Chuck Flap and the other category is Frankfurters.

The contest consists of three age categories: 8-13, 14-17 and 18-21. All ages will be determined as of January 1. Mixed teams may be entered but will be classified by the oldest member of the team. The contest will be judged by a panel of three judges. Winners in showmanship, recipe and overall excellence will be awarded special prizes.

Rules and the online entry form are available on angusauxiliary.com. For contest questions contact Anne Lampe at 620-874-4273 or amlampe.al@gmail.com or Anne Patton Schubert at 502-477-2663.
